Job Description

Software Development Engineers – Media Technology: We are looking for talented engineers to make impactful contributions to the full software development lifecycle, from concept to final software solution/service. Ittiam builds software, powered by market requirements, and driven by listening to key customer care -- hence there will be continuous learning opportunities to interact with customers through an agile and collaborative co-development. This presents an opportunity to gain rewarding experience in the technology areas of multimedia (audio-image-video) processing, computer vision, machine learning, and analytics, applied to the Enterprise Media workflows. Ittiam offers the engineers the opportunity to grow their careers in multiple dimensions such as Technologist, Product Management, Strategic Technical Marketing, Sales, and Business Management.
